THE TIME HAS COME

By Kippy Stuart

For over eight years, weekly, I have carried copy to the Pine Cone, and never have I had a happier task. Nostalgia is already working within me, for this will be the last "Time Has Come" to leave the old offices that are steeped in tradition. There is just that something to a writer about his Editor's desk that defies analysis, yet it is there and one's Editor is something-or-other pretty important to any writer. I shall grieve as I watch those presses meander down Dolores Street, as I cannot visualize the Pine Cone in a different setting.

In my salad days, I worked on the old New York World and I remember the chaos that overtook everyone, from the copy boy to feature writers, when The World abandoned its old and dark offices for swank and modernity. F.P.A. was so upset at the thought of leaving the old diggings that he went A.W.O.L. Most of the staff joined him (you know, that little joint down the street), and it took pressure to re-establish order. One of the funniest things that happened on The World after the move, was the appearance of personnel. The old, casual, even sloppy days, when no one gave a thought to grooming, had a "sea change". The first morning in the new building witnessed neckties, hair cuts, new suits, and a more self-conscious, unhappy group of writers you never saw.

So, before I enter the new Pine Cone offices, I suppose it is up to me to get a new pair of pants!

20% MORE NOW WILL COST LESS IN THE LONG RUN

By Zenas Potter

Should the Community Chest "one drive" plan for raising money to support welfare agencies break down—and the danger is very real—these things will happen:

1. Donors will give more, but—
2. The agencies will get less,

and

3. The public will be bothered with multiple fund-raisers.

4. It will be easier for unworthy agencies to collect from the public, and—

5. There will be no overhead check on agency efficiency.

None of us wants those things to happen; but already in this area there has been a partial breakdown of the Community Chest idea. The breakdown will become serious if we do not—all of us—respond to the Chest's appeal and support it more adequately, so that it can meet the needs of the different agencies without supplemental "drives".

The unwelcome truth is that only two of the 17 Chest agencies get all their funds from the Chest. In some cases this is all right. It is right in the case of the four school milk and lunch programs, who get administrative costs from the Chest, and surplus foods from the government. It probably is all right in the case of agencies financed in part by the Chest and Pine Cone saluted the Monterey County Fair in the above linoleum block, designed and cut for us by Carmel painters, Mary Miller and Fred Klepich. The Fair opens daily at 10:00 o'clock in the morning, today through Sunday. First horseshow performance will be tonight at 8:00 o'clock. Starting tomorrow there will be a matinee each day beginning at 1:00 o'clock and evening performances at 8:00 o'clock. There will be continuous free variety show performances on the outdoor theater stage during the afternoons; in the evenings the stage will be taken over at 8:00 o'clock by the Carmel Valley Opera Company.

Meeting Today On Youth Center Financial Troubles

Mayor Horace Lyon has called a special meeting of the city council this afternoon, 5:00 o'clock, to consider the Carmel Youth Center's financial problem which is stated in the following letter, submitted to the mayor last week by Fred Godwin, chairman of the adult board of the center.

"A situation now exists in the financial structure of the Carmel Youth Center that needs the advice and guidance of the legal governing bodies of the Carmel area.

"You are probably aware of the

OPEN THE SECOND DOOR AND WALK IN

After noon today, Thursday, August 25, the Pine Cone will be in its new location, The Pine Cone Building (formerly the Red Cross Building) on the east side of Dolores Street, between Seventh and Eighth streets, in the middle of the block, a block south of the old location. It is a two story white building with grey front, and as you walk south on Dolores Street, the second doorway is the entrance to the Pine Cone business and editorial offices; behind them are the composing and press rooms, and betwixt these, the editor's office.

Time For Grown-Ups To Start Sharpening Their Pencils, Too

The kids are making their plans and getting ready for school opening on the Peninsula, September 6. Adults have a week more to think about it than the youngsters. School for grown-ups starts September 12, in the three night schools on the Peninsula, Carmel, Monterey and Pacific Grove.

Carmel Adult School will have much the same faculty and schedule of courses this year as last, with the popular French and Italian language sessions continuing. A new psychology class is planned.

Dog Pound Peace Plan Is Proposed

A door to door collection system for dog license fees may be the solution of the weeks-long stalemate between the S.P.C.A. and the four cities of the Monterey Peninsula over how much the cities are to pay the S.P.C.A. next year for pound service.

Dr. Ralph Weston, who ran the S.P.C.A. pound in 1951 took the role of mediator and called a luncheon meeting of the 4-cities representatives yesterday noon at the Mission Inn in Monterey. He told them that San Francisco, the towns throughout Marin County and numerous other California cities support their pound service through a door to door collection system for dog license fees, the volunteer collectors (college kids and housewives) receiving ten percent of the take. He said that in his veterinary business he found that not more than two out of every ten Peninsula dogs that were brought to him were licensed. He recommended that the fee be set at $3.00 for all dogs (it is now $2.00 for males; $4.00 for females, and Larry Rose, city license collector has often commented on how strange it is there are no female dogs in Carmel).

Weston also recommended that a board composed of one member from each of the four cities and three S.P.C.A. members be set up to administer the fiscal operations of the pound. Also, he offered the use of fifteen dog runs at his kennels to the S.P.C.A. until they could enlarge their facilities, if they would undertake Seaside's pound work as they do for the other cities. Seaside, until incorporation, had county pound service.

The four cities' representatives at the luncheon, Mrs. William Arley Smith, Carmel; H. R. Lewis, Monterey; C. B. Ward, Pacific Grove; and Dr. John Craig, Seaside.

Carmelites Lead In Arts, Crafts Awards At Monterey Co. Fair

Carmel persons took most of the awards in the Monterey County Fair Art and Craft shows.

Alexander Weygers won the grand award in the art show, a silver trophy donated by the City and County of San Francisco, for his sculpture entitled Madonna and Child. In the oil painting section of the show all the prizes were won by Carmel artists, first, Louise Boyer; second, Thomas McGlynn; third, Marjorie Doolittle; honorable mention went to Gerald Wasserman and James C. Merbs. In the water color section, second award went to Eugene A. Baker. Weygers won first prize in the sculpture class.

Craft awards went to six Carmelites: ceramics, Erica Franke; leather, Marion Shefik; metals, Alexander Weygers; printing, Enola Dickey; textile decoration, Julia B. Gillis; weaving, Anne Blinks, who also won the first prize donated by McCall's magazine, for the best craft work, her entry being a woven stole; second McCall's prize went to Marion Shefik for her red leather handbag.

PADRE GRIDDERS OPEN
PRACTICE AUGUST 31

Carmel High's varsity football squad reports for full dress practice on Wednesday, August 31, with the backs slated for 1:30 to 3:30 and the linemen going through their paces from 4 to 6 p.m. By league edict, practice has been moved up one day to allow all CCAL teams fifteen days practice before the jamboree scheduled for September 16. Padre varsity candidates will report for medical exams Monday and Tuesday and will be ready to don the pads on Wednesday.

Eleven returning varsity lettermen plus 12 award winners from last year's junior-varsity gives the red and gray varsity a solid nucleus of experienced players who have been through the rigors of league grid play. Returning varsity lettermen are: Dick Jennings and George Wightman, ends; Bob Michela and Pat Erwin, tackles; John Thompson, center; Dick Ogden, guard; Mike Mosolf, quarterback; West Whittaker, Roger Bulene and Clyde Klaumann, halfbacks; Bill McCormack, fullback. JV players up for a varsity tryout are: Mervyn Sutton and Bob Wise, ends; Kyrk Reid, Paul Prince, and Bob Frizzell, tackles; Harry Baxter, Joe Mason and Ron Huffman, guards; Syd Trevvett, center; Charley Dawson, quarterback; Dick Holt and Pierre Olivie, fullbacks. Don Petty, a newcomer to football with lots of speed and strength, will join the varsity candidates in quest of one of the half-back positions.

First game—condition action for the Padres will be the annual Red & Gray intrasquad game on September 14. This intrasquad is a full dress tussle designed to give the coaching staff a look at the candidates under actual game conditions. League officials are assigned to this game and the players have a chance to become familiar with the interscholastic football rules. Following the Red & Gray fracas, the Padres will see action in the CCAL Football Jamboree at Salinas on Friday, September 16. This will be a 15-minute session in which Carmel will square off against one of the other B division schools.

MARK HILDEBRAND WINS KEITH MACKENZIE TROPHY
Competition in the annual Keith MacKenzie Table Tennis Tournament

ment was hot and heavy at the Youth Center last week as Craig Chapman, David Marshall, Joe Mason, and Mark Hildebrand battled right down to the wire before a champion was crowned. Out of 16 starting players, these four emerged as finalists and the crafty little left-hander, Mark Hildebrand, disposed of the other three to win the coveted trophy. On his way to the championship, Hildebrand disposed of Tim O'Shea, 21-14 and 21-13, knocked off Art Wilkerson, 25-23 and 21-19, outstroker David Marshall, 21-19 and 21-17, and in the finals whipped Joe Mason, 21-15 and 21-17.

Craig Chapman won the consolation end of the tournament by whipping Mike Elsen and Tim O'Shea, but was edged out for third-place when David Marshall clipped him, 21-16 and 21-18. Joe Mason earned the runner-up spot by disposing of Marshall, 21-15 and 21-19.

RECREATION SWIM MEET

The weather was cold, the water was warm, and the swimmers full of amalgamated enthusiasm as the Annual Recreation Swim Meet unfolded at the Carmel High pool Friday, August 12. Over 100 splashes took part in the meet with plenty of ribbon-winners rewarded for their efforts. Double first place winners included Ciji Ware, Don Smith, John Zimmerman, Ronnie Berry, Jenny Hill, Patty Oenning and Karen Rising. One of the top performances of the meet was turned in by Ann Giles, a nifty backstroker, who toured the 25 yards in 17 seconds. This time compares favorably with prep school times for the same event.

After-Dinner Speaker
Gets His "Deserts"

"Red" Thomas tells about a dinner party he and his Missus went to in Center City last week. He said it was a wonderful party—except for one guest who was a real "know-it-all," right from the start.

Whatever the subject, this fellow considered himself an "expert." Wasn't quiet about it, either. He told different people what automobile to buy, what books to read—even told some who they "just had" to vote for.

When it came time to leave, this fellow must've felt a pang of conscience. He turned to the hostess and said: "I suppose I was a bit outspoken tonight." Quickly she replied, "Of course not. No one could have out-spoken you."

From where I sit, it's all right to have opinions as long as you don't try to force them on neighbors. Take those who would deny me an occasional glass of beer simply because they prefer something else. They're welcome to their choice but shouldn't try to force me to be a "party" to it!

It might fittingly be called the Sunday Night Club, this informal conclave of Carmel's Chamber Music Society chez Louise and Gilbert Boyer, when the squirrels up there in the darkling pines across from the tennis courts are kept awake until almost midnight at least one night a week. And as in other night clubs where people enjoy compressing themselves onto a small amount of floor space, so at the Boyers.

Here I have touched off my flash bulb in the faces of eight players all bowing and blowing Mozart at once, in a room already well filled with a grand piano that is no baby, great projecting music cabinets, book shelves, and a couchful of audience. This second shot shows six more players and sympathetic listeners in the little adjoining aqua-tinted room. Those who have found elbow room and are bending them very effectively indeed under Gilbert's baton are first, cellist Ted Kuster (long celebrated for his achievements with both bow and Bough!). The violinists are Pacific Grove investment broker Pat Coleman (former concert master of the Denver Symphony), Louis Fragos, formerly of the Salt Lake City Symphony (now teaching at the Stevenson School), and Carmel's David Hagemeyer. The violist is Marie Sale, who used to troop with it under her chin on tour with that legendary, long-loved figure of American vaudeville, her husband "Chick" Sale.

The woodwind section is comprised of two handsome young couples and a striking brunette, oboist Lloyd and flutist Patty Clapper, of Monterey's public school system, flutist Mitzi Erickson, whose husband is on the staff of the Presidio, and Betty and Joe Axup, both blowing their own French horns. They were stationed here when Joe was disarmed and they decided to go no further because of the many chances for creating beautiful sound effects in Carmel. They both play in the Symphony, sang in the Bach Chorale, and have already been featured in the Chamber Music Society's formal (and much acclaimed) debut under the banner of the Musical Arts Club. Joe found a job for himself in the music department of the Gonzales High School and plans to go back and forth like a metronome—just my idea of the last full measure of devotion to this community!

Whenever the house feels too tight for herself, Gilbert, two sons and a daughter, Louise imagines that it is a trailer, upon which feat of the imagination, it assumes truly baronial proportions. But it would certainly be hard to imagine a trailer with such a cathedral-like ceiling, and with a chalk rock fireplace reaching clear up to it!

While listening to the rehearsing and impressive sightreading, my roving camera focuses on driftwood arrangements, Mexican masks, Chinese scrolls, an early American wind harp on the wall by the front door, modern ceramic birds, and Louise's provocative paintings, which are rarely the same two Sunday nights in succession. (She is the director of the painting school in the new Carmel Craft Studios, you know.) Here she is in a black wool jumper, somewhere between the Bach and the Vivaldi numbers, passing grape punch, Axup brownies and Boyer blitzkuchen to the hungry performers, after which they redoubled their efforts for almost another hour.

How wonderful it is that the Vacancy sign in Carmel that has so long indicated the absence of any homegrown ensemble group, has finally been removed!

John Burr Re-Opens Voice Studio Here

John Burr is re-opening a voice studio in Carmel. Anyone who knows John is aware of the fact that he loves to sing, and being a natural born teacher, loves to help other people to sing, too.

Before the war John had a studio here which he closed when he joined the Marine Corps. The Marines soon found out about his singing ability and made him a member of the Marines' first special service group where his bass voice, joined with 16 other voices, became known as The Merry Men of the Marines. These singers were flown all over the Pacific theater to provide entertainment at Marine bases. Later John Burr was returned to the United States as a soloist with the Halls of Montezuma radio program which was broadcast by the Marine Corps from San Diego.

Prior to the war John had been a member of the San Francisco, Los Angeles and Chicago Opera companies. He had also been a member of the San Remo opera group in Italy.

Before coming west this time Burr had been working in the vocal department of the Miami Conservatory of Music in Florida with Bertha Foster, head of the Musician's Club of America. He was also, at this time, general director of the Civic Theater of Greater Miami.

John, his wife, Ellie, who is a medical technician, and their three year old son, David, returned to Carmel three months ago. They have just moved into the new studio on Monte Verde Street where John plans to teach. He is particularly interested in new young voices but is prepared to give coaching to experienced singers in opera and concert work.

DAN MARSHALL IN ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY

Daniel Marshall, Jr., will be organ soloist at the monthly vespers concert Sunday at 5:00 o'clock at All Saints' Church.

Dan has served as assistant organist at All Saints' for the past three years, and has given many recitals on the Monterey Peninsula. He has played for the American Guild of Organists in Watsonville and Santa Cruz. In September he will begin his studies at Yale University. He has been studying with Richard Purvis during the past year.

The program: Fugue in B Minor, Three Chorale Preludes and Fugue On The Credo, J. S. Bach; Two Chorale Preludes, Brahms; Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, Bach; Communion, Purvis; Adagio and Piuete Heroique, Franck; Benedictus, Rowley.

Ruth Sarett's Day . . .

By WILLIAM GAHAGAN

The Greeks had a word for it—"geras"—or old age. And because our men of medicine have added years to our lives, they have had to become increasingly interested in this new field of geriatrics—the science of dealing with diseases and hygiene of old age.

The Carmel Foundation, through its Town House in this community, has indirectly done much for both of these problems, particularly the latter. Through the active week-in, week-out program of good use of leisure time in crafts, painting, games, exhibits, reading, lectures, films, discussions, daily tea and general get-togethers, the men and women who go to Town House are filling out their lives to advantage, and are in a sense, contributing to geriatric studies.

And beyond this program, there is a job of service being done—a human relations effort that is noteworthy, and worth your support as the Carmel Foundation begins its annual drive for funds next week.

Consider just one day in the life of Town House's executive director, Mrs. Ruth Sarett, and one will readily see the contribution of the front office alone.

Here are notes that I took as Mrs. Sarett described a typical day she had recently:

"Began by stopping at Post Office. One letter expressed thanks of members of 'Live Long and Like It' Club of San Jose, who had visited Town House recently. Other mail included checks from members who make a monthly donation to Foundation.

Back at Town House, had a call from a woman who wanted information about eligibility for Old Age Assistance in California. Gave her details she needed. Another call. A member to say that she was going to Monterey and would be glad to take anyone with her who cared to go. Immediately called two ladies and arranged for this cooperative transportation.

Next a call re residence homes. Made an appointment to discuss this personally that day. Have file of such homes in area, and also am hoping to develop a list of private homes where elderly people, with adequate income, may be taken in on board and room basis. Have two people interested in such an arrangement immediately.

Had a caller at office who wanted to talk about plans for her mother. She was leaving for Texas next day and wanted to know what resources there were to take care of her mother in case she required assistance. An hour later, the mother herself called to make an appointment. I invited her over for our daily tea to discuss her problem.

Next call from a woman who explained that she wanted a few hours of work a day. Made an appointment to discuss this situation. Meanwhile, between calls, filled out forms reporting salaries and withholding taxes of Foundation administrative staff.

Phone rang again. Call from a worker in State Employment Agency, who told me she had application for work from a woman who was looking for a position as a companion, practical nurse, or housekeeper. Called this woman and arranged for appointment soon.

Several callers at office. One with box of cookies for daily tea. Another on her way home from Post Office. Just wanted to rest and chat. At 12:30, woman about residence home arrived for talk. Discussed pro and cons of leaving her own home for such a place. After this interview, went to Post Office to pick up mail, then to bank to deposit checks which had come in that morning, and then to an attorney's office to discuss the will of one of the members, who had requested help in this respect.

At 2:30, went to the home of a woman whose daughter had been in that morning regarding care for her mother. Discussed situation fully. This was only the beginning, however, of a long and productive piece of casework. After leaving there, dropped by another home to call on an elderly lady, who wanted to discuss her care during two weeks of vacation of her housekeeper. Told her I would arrange something, either substitute housekeeper or two weeks in rest home.

Got back to find volunteer workers helping arrange flowers for tea that afternoon. Discussed our Wednesday programs of films and speakers with chairman of this committee, setting up a month of dates. Phone rang during this meeting several times. One was a man checking on his chess game appointment. Another to say that he would be a little late for his woodcarving class, but to tell Mr. Bartlett that . . .

And so it goes with Mrs. Sarett. And on goes the work of the Carmel Foundation and its Town House. The P.O. Box is 3424, Carmel.

Chest Workers In Get Together Before Drive For $101,034

Community Chest workers from all over the Peninsula converged on Carmel Valley Saturday for a barbecue and final instructions, the start of the year's Community Chest campaign to raise $101,034.20.

Malcolm Millard, Carmel attorney and campaign chairman, told the group that he was happy to see them all together because from then on to achieve the goal they would have to work together as a team.

"Three out of every four families on the Peninsula use Chest services," he said, "Yet only one out of four supported it last year. Even in Carmel the rate of giving is far lower than the national per capita average."

Carmel residents benefit from the Community Chest through both the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Carmel Youth Center, the Visiting Nurse Association, Travelers Aid, the Carmel Valley Community Center, Family Service and the Carmel Well Baby Clinic. And the USO benefits many Carmel boys in the armed services.

Heading the drive in Carmel are Jack Miller, chairman for the business district, and Mrs. James C. Doud, residential chairman.

Other Carmelites now active in the campaign are William Gahagan, publicity chairman; Margaret Hensel, publicity committee, and Mrs. E. P. McMurtry and Mrs. G. W. C. Whiting, who are aiding Mrs. Doud.

CRAFT EXHIBIT AT LIBRARY

Ceramic mosaics featuring religious motifs by G. St. Galy form the Carmel Crafts exhibit at the Harrison Public Library this month. Mr. St. Galy, a newcomer to the peninsula, maintains a studio in Carmel. He is an architect and decorator by profession and studied graphic arts in Italy and Hungary.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,

TRAVELOGUE NO. 4

Our approach to the Canadian Rockies was from Waterton through Calgary to Banff. This is an easy day's drive, though it was made a bit difficult by excessive heat and strong tail winds, with everyone's radiator boiling. The much-advertised Banff was crowded with visitors even more tightly than Carmel. We had a room in the private home of the manager of a reservation agency, arranged in advance through the teletype service of the Alberta Motor Association.

The town of Banff belongs to the Canadian government and is a part of Banff National Park, with business and private property occupied under 42-year lease. The government building and grounds, extensively landscaped, are a show place for visitors, as is the famous Banff Springs Hotel with its view across the Bow River Valley toward the mountains surrounding the town.

A quick view of the town and mountains may be had by riding the chairlift to an elevation of 6900 feet. We only had one full day there, partly filled with interviews and business of the National Parks Association. So in the interest of time economy we rode the chairlift at the end of the day. The views from the top are superb but there is no room for walking around. Of course chairlifts of this kind are contrary to the philosophy behind the American park system.

From Banff we drove past Lake Louise to Lake Wapta, stopping on the way for a brief look at Moraine Lake. This is a favorite of mine, which I photographed many years ago. The coloring of the water and the ten high peaks surrounding it make it one of the most beautiful and dramatic in the Canadian Rockies.

Staying over night at Lake Wapta Lodge, we went in the next day to Lake O'Hara on an 8-mile trail, my wife on horse-back, I on foot. Here we had reservations at Lake O'Hara Lodge, a delightful place with a family atmosphere on the shore of this beautiful lake. This was new to me and I was very enthusiastic over the beauty of its coloring and setting. I consider it the gem of the Canadian Rockies.

The Mazamas, Portland mountaineering organization, 60 strong, were encamped in a meadow about a mile from the Lodge. Having been a member of this organization since 1922, I spent much time visiting with them and renewing old acquaintances. The weather was perfect during our five-day stay and trail trips in the surrounding mountains were a real thrill.

We were fortunate in meeting there Dr. George K. K. Link, a retired research man from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Dr. Link has been coming to Lake O'Hara every summer for the last 29 years and has been personally responsible for much of the trail development there. He is president of the Lake O'Hara Trails Association of some 400 members who are interested in keeping up the trail system in cooperation with the Canadian National Parks Service. This is a notable achievement not duplicated elsewhere in the Canadian Rockies.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

In 1953, Ashley-Montague published a book entitled The Natural Superiority of Women, which caused quite a furor every reader taking a strong stand pro or con, and being quite ready to argue the point. Now Ashley-Montague has a new book entitled The Direction of Human Development, and here his thesis is the necessary role of affection and cooperation in the life of the individual in society.

Inspirational books seem to provide the antidote for our troubled times. A new one by Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, who was Vice-President of India for a time, is entitled Recovery of Faith and is included in a series called World Perspectives. The author discusses such topics as The Difficulties of Belief, The Need for Belief, and The Quest for Reality. No doubt the answers to many problems are included in this small book.

Health insurance, the oft-suggested socialized medicine, and many other medical problems are comprehensively discussed in Michael Davis' Medical Care for Tomorrow. The excellent index in this thick book enables the reader to check on whatever phase of the subject interests him most, without reading the entire book.

Dick and Amy Greenwood had three small sons, and they were thinking about the many advantages of raising their three in a clean, new, uncluttered environment. All this was in 1949. The first result of their cogitations was a decision to move to Alaska, and the second result was the long drive up the Alcan Highway to Anchorage. The final result was a book by Amy Greenwood which she called Rolling North. The book is very funny, but it gives the idea that the trip itself was anything but humorous.

The last book of poems by Robert Tristram Coffin is composed of 105 selected poems. Here are poems which will be cherished by those who know and love his work. Marianne Moore is another favorite poet writing today. She has just published her first prose volume entitled Predilections. Here she writes on the essay form on poetry and poets.

Life magazine is important for many of us. We have Rayfield's book How Life Gets the Story; Behind the Scenes in Photo-Journalism. In fascinating style it shows the pictures and stories behind many of Life's big articles, and is approximately the size of the magazine. Here we can see Margaret Bourke-White getting a story on the Korean war, other writers and photographers collecting material under the sea, following the reporters behind the Iron Curtain, welcoming the returning conquerors of Everest, and many other scenes familiar to readers of Life.

WHAT'S DOING

Customer's letter describes thrill of telephone conference call

"Dear Sirs: Recently my brother arranged a conference telephone call with me and our two sisters. We each live in different parts of the country. The operator let me know about it at noon and said we would all be able to talk to each other at the same time. That night, right on time, it was carried out perfectly. It was as though everyone was right in my kitchen, it was so clear. I do want to thank all who helped make this thrilling experience possible."

—Mrs. Clara B. Wilcox
We certainly appreciate letters like this, for they tell us we've succeeded again in making the telephone still more useful to you. And that's the most important part of our job. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

MRS. CLARA B. WILCOX

Take life easy with extension phones

Can't you picture the convenience of always having a telephone within easy reach? You could relax on the patio or porch, for instance, without having to move to answer a call. And with telephones in the living room, kitchen, and any other room you use a lot, your telephone arrangement for easy living is complete. You save time and countless steps. Cost: Less than a nickel a day for each additional phone. And remember, too—if you're planning to build or remodel—that it's easy and inexpensive to include built-in telephone wiring and outlets in your plans. They'll make your home even more modern and livable. For free advice on built-in wiring, or more facts about extensions, call your telephone business office.

TAKE STEPS TO SAVE STEPS

The Telephone Company is not only striving to give you service, but beauty plus convenience as well. Here we see one of our Service Representatives, Anna May Di Mare, demonstrating a few of the very newest in our colored telephones.

This ultra new type of extension not only saves unnecessary steps around the house, but also can add immeasurably to the color scheme of your kitchen, bedroom, den or any other place in the home that you so desire to place this attractive set. Best of all, it only costs a few cents a day.

Ave Atque Vale

By HARRIET KEEN ROBERTS

Deeply embedded in the imagination of mankind, or in our ancestral memory, if you prefer, is the idea of a good beginning, of a state of happiness, peace and love to which we look back with longing. The Greeks called it the Golden Age. Most nations have such legends; they are versions, Jews and Christians believe, of the events of which the Garden of Eden and the Fall are an allegory. Those who have been near enough to the Monterey Institute for Foreign Affairs to know its teachers and students have realized with delight that they were watching its Golden Age. The Institute's final object is to help toward peace and good will among the nations by making its students understand "the language which is the expression of a nation's spirit" and the "civilization"—(its history, literature and philosophy)—which "has moulded the forms" of its language. The desire to help toward understanding and good will seemed to find on the Monterey Peninsula a soil suited to its growth. Sponsors gave scholarships so that students who could not afford the fees could still take the courses. A kind hostess supplied rooms and board at unbelievably reasonable terms and received in return such warm appreciation and so much domestic helpfulness that students and landlady parted as dear friends. A famous institution of learning gave credits. The Monterey Peninsula College gave the use of some of its pleasant classrooms, the Theater-in-the-Round was rented for its lowest fees. The Pine Cone gave generously of its space. Parties were given at Hollow Hills Farm, at La Soledad, at The Hales. The Institute had that greatest of essentials, teachers of genius who could inspire their students.

On Friday last the Institute celebrated the end of this summer's seminar. There was the giving of certificates from the Institute and of credits from St. Mary's College. A prayer of St. Theresa of Avila's was read by Mr. Noel Sullivan and then all the students, teachers and friends of the Institute went to a farewell party at Lady Kinnoull's. As one student from Stanford wrote, "Everyone has shown a kindness and consideration far beyond the call of duty."

The last public lectures of the three series were so good, as were, indeed, the whole series, that we must hope, there having already been a demand for it, that they may be repeated this winter for a larger public. In her talk on Hitler, the fourth man whom she chose as an expression of "The German Spirit", Mrs. Fearnley accomplished the same almost miraculous effect that she achieved with Frederick the Great. She made us understand how "the child was father to the man", how his youth made Hitler what he was. How his time of poverty in Vienna were "his apprentice years" which nurtured in him not compassion, but hatred, he was not "for" but "against". Hitler was an expression of that terrible destructive spirit which inspired the Germanic tribes, the Goths, the Vandals, the Huns, who destroyed the Roman Empire and, as St. Jerome wrote in 396 A.D., "spread ruin and death . . . on every side sorrow and lamentation, everywhere the image of death." Mrs. Fearnley warned us not to be too sure that Germany may not make "another attempt to be the master of Europe's fate—of your fate and mine." She also told us of a remark of Dr. Jung's when someone asked him in what way the patients at a local Agnew near Zurich differed from normal people. Jung replied, "Those people shut up there are exactly like us, like you and me—only more so". Hitler had the coldness, the violence, the hatred, the xenophobia which is at least a small part of us all, a part which most of us try to conquer in ourselves, but Hitler had them without measure, had them "more so".

Mrs. Fearnley began her talk with a quotation terribly apt to Hitler and to us all, from

HER GARDEN WAS THE WORLD

*She watched them go as one by one the lure
Of surging wave or thrumming forest drew
Some here, some there; the distant farm and moor
Were magnets curved in summer-leavened blue.
Her heart sent out a silent-longing prayer
For sea and hill, or clover steeped in sun
And chorused melodies; for leisure where Cascades rush down or brooks serenely run.
Her garden was the world she traveled in,
A place where she could vision from a dream
The sweep of fields or pine trees towered thin.
Her fancy found the winging lyric theme
Of miles away in trellis-song, and heard
A meadow-lark, a gull, or mountain-bird.*

—CONSTANCE WALKER

COMING EVENTS

*Do they reach us, or may not we Perhaps arrive at them,
As finished robes of which we see
Only a fractional hem;*

*Or waiting hostilities and inns,
Sending a glimmer of light,
Solar with good, lunar with sins,
Across the futuristic night?*

—LORI PETRI

COUNTERPOINT

*The restful motion of the stars repeats
The primal concord of the cosmic law
Wherein creation stands without a flaw,
Secure against the storm-tide as it beats.
From their impartial benison men draw
Care-quenching drafts of peace, and find the key
To higher heavens, sighting eternity
With mingled paeans of joy and solemn awe.*

*From Jupiter to chorus nebulae,
No rivalry obtrudes itself or jars—
Whether a solo or supporting bars,
Each plays its part in ceaseless symphony.
No dissonance of mundane being mars
The contrapuntal music of the stars.*

—MARY BOYD WAGNER

Murder for Profit. How much profit Hitler expected to make, did make at first, from murder. William Bolitho wrote, "Presences that seem to come from a monstrous world more evil than ours are still the not-to-be-disowned children of our familiar race, whose pedigree records not only blonde Abel, but the damned fraternal strain of Cain." Mrs. Fearnley also quoted from the English historian Allan Bullock, who writes that Hitler made a discovery in Vienna, he learned to distinguish between crowds and masses. A crowd goes for Sunday walks . . . a mob all runs in one direction. The democratic statesman tries to serve the crowd, to keep it peaceful and quiet. The demagogue, the tyrant, keeps the masses on the run, in a permanent state of mobilization. In war the crowds disappear, the masses remain—soldiers—all moving in one direction towards one goal, which has nothing to do with their trivial private concerns. In peace they can be kept in the same state by such organizations as Force through Joy, and the Nuremburg rallies.

That spirit of balance which Hitler lacked was and is a cause of the greatness of French culture. M. Weiss showed us this in his four lectures on "the Spirit of France as shown in her literature". He believes not only that man is a religious animal, but that "religion is the soul of civilizations". In his last lecture, "From Romanticism to Surrealism" he showed how, with the waning of the old, certain faith, French literature offered us "an abundance of substitute creeds." But he feels now that "France has discovered the treasures she has accumulated through the ages. Their intrinsic qualities form the basis for new structures. France is rebuilding herself, patiently, joyously, and full of faith. She needs but one thing: sincere and understanding sympathy."

Mr. Elton's last lecture on "Can Color Harmony Be Attained?" seemed to me his best. He roused no opposition in his white audience and the negro student of the Institute thought it so good that he wanted a copy of my transcript of it. Mr. Elton held out no hopes of an easy or immediate attainment of harmony, yet he believes it will come to pass—in time. His own spirit is marked by sympathy and justice to both white and colored. He feels that the United States has made much progress. As late as 1944 a leading sociologist wrote "I know we will never see a negro with a commission in the United States Navy." We now see them in all the Armed Forces. And, on the other hand, white men can now own property in Haiti. We must convince the Asian peoples that we do not consider them "expendable". Prime Minister Nehru said, "Why experiment (with atom bombs) in Asia?" But Mr. Elton thinks that Gandhi's concept of peace will prevail in the end, that it does so already with many of the Indian peoples, if not always with their governments. When we convince the Asian and the African peoples that we extend our doctrine of the dignity of man to the non-white races the clash of color will be resolved and will end.

LINDSAY-OLIVER STUDENTS' RECITAL

A full house at the DeNeale Morgan Studio greeted the three singers and one pianist who have been coaching with Miss Lindsay-Oliver. Nancy Santee who opened the program, after a few remarks on songs for study by the teacher, was making a beginner's first appearance. She showed in her singing of Home Sweet Home, a good mezzo-soprano voice used with feeling and clear enunciation for which she was well applauded, and later sang I Love You Truly by Bond and The Lord's Prayer by Malotte.

Paul Anderson, a singer of some experience, was heard in To Music by Schubert and My Lovely Celia by Monroe, later giving an aria from Gounod's Faust and Hunter's Moon by Lindsay-Oliver, all sung in an expressive baritone. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Carmel's Business Is Your Business

All of us in Carmel are an integral part of the community, and as has always been true, a community prospers as does the individual citizen. We do not live alone, but as a part of the whole group. Perhaps the surest way of helping in our community's continued growth and economic well-being is to patronize home enterprise at all times possible. Those who supply goods and services live here, pay taxes here, send their children to our schools . . . thus making their own definite contribution to Carmel's welfare.

Values in the Village compare with those of any other section of California. Selection and variety are greater than in any other community of equal size. Shopping convenience — everything one needs is available within a few pleasant blocks — is self-evident. Carmel merchants offer a personal service seldom found elsewhere; there is a friendliness, a warmth of feeling that makes shopping a pleasure.

For many years it has been, and more and more continues to be to your advantage to buy in Carmel!

Nivens Leave For Home

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Niven left Carmel on Sunday for their home in Los Angeles. Mrs. Niven had been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Farr, for the summer, and Mr. Niven had joined her for the last two weeks of her stay. Friday evening Senator and Mrs. Farr invited a group of the Nivens' friends to the Farr home for a farewell party when the guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Saul Weingarten, Mrs. Weingarten's mother, Mrs. Kathryn Moore, and her son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Doner, Dr. and Mrs. Roderick Clayton, Mrs. Mary Sullivan, Mrs. Marie Short and Jake Kenny. During the course of the evening, which was Mrs. Moore's birthday, she was presented with a small piece of unusually shaped driftwood from the collection which Senator Farr has been gathering on his trips in the Sierra, down the coast, and on the local beaches.

Pat Cunningham To Italy

Patricia Cunningham plans to leave Carmel on Sunday for a three-month painting trip in Italy. She will fly from San Francisco to New York and continue by air to Madrid, Spain, and Rome. During September Pat plans to meet Carmelites Dr. and Mrs. Remsen Bird in Rome and also the Robert Stanton family. She has Italian friends made last year when she was on a previous trip to Europe. On the way home Pat hopes to be able to do some painting in Spain. Her Italian itinerary includes Capri and Sicily.

Burrs Move

Mr. and Mrs. John Burr and David have moved from the Borden house in Carmel Woods to the former Jackson studio on Monte Verde Street at Fifth. John is planning to open a voice studio at the new location.

Marie Gordon in San Jose

Mrs. Marie Gordon left last week for San Jose where she intends to make her home, at least for the time being, with tentative plans for a trip to Mexico, later. She expects to be away from Carmel for a year, and has rented her house here to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hauser of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

John Chitwood Has New Job

Last night John Chitwood, son of Councilman and Mrs. John Chitwood, who has been employed at the United States Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey in the engineering department, left for El Paso, Texas, where he has a new job with the Philco Corporation as a field engineer at Fort Bliss.

Hilary Belloc Here

Hilary Belloc of Sausalito, erstwhile resident of Carmel and skipper of a sports fishing boat at Stillwater Cove, now an engineer with the California Division of Highways, arrived in Carmel this weekend in a brand new yellow pick-up to spend several days seeing his local friends.

Great Books Group To Meet

This season's first meeting of the Great Books group on the Monterey Peninsula will be held on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Monterey Public Library. The discussion, led by Chester Lewis of Carmel, will be on the Sermon on the Mount. Dr. James L. Hagerty, professor of philosophy at St. Mary's College and director of the Great Books Council of San Francisco will be co-leader on this occasion. All persons interested in the Great Books program are invited to attend Tuesday night's meeting.

Julie Campbell's Party

Last Wednesday noon when Julie Campbell, daughter of the Gordon Campbells, returned home for lunch from a tennis lesson, and sauntered unconcernedly into the house, she was greeted by sudden cries of "Surprise" from the 12 girls who had been waiting for her arrival and to help her celebrate her twelfth birthday. After lunch the young ladies displayed their sewing skill by making aprons which they proudly took home with them. There was also a ping-pong tournament and other games. Those who surprised Julie with their unexpected presence were Janet Strong, Kathy Mapstead, Diane Shields, Janie Tetley, Marjory Lloyd, Penny Nielsen, Sue Moore, Virginia Reynolds, Janice Way, Pam Perry and Julie's two sisters, Lynne and Polly.

Parties For Staff and Students

Lady Kinnoull gave a farewell party on Friday evening for the teachers, students and friends of the Monterey Institute for Foreign Studies which had just closed its summer session. Flowers were used to decorate the firelit living room and a first birthday cake, with one candle, and adorned with tiny flags of France, Great Britain, Korea, Imperial Russia and the United States, was served to the guests to commemorate the first year of the Institute's existence.

On Sunday Noel Sullivan entertained the teachers and students at Hollow Hills Farm, where those present enjoyed swimming in the pool before luncheon.

Steve Wins National Award

Steve Whitaker, son of Councilman and Mrs. Francis Whitaker, has been awarded a National Science Foundation award for the coming year to continue his chemical engineering studies. Steve is a graduate of Carmel High School and the University of California and during the past year has been working with Dr. R. L. Pigford at the University of Delaware as a holder of one of the university's fellowships. This year he has a choice of projects at any university in the nation but is hoping that he may find a project of sufficient value at the University of Delaware so that he may continue working with Dr. Pigford.

McHarrys Leave For Year

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McHarry and their two daughters, Gail and Linda, left on Friday for New York where this week they will board the Independence for an Atlantic crossing followed by a year's stay in Europe. The girls will attend school in Lausanne, Switzerland, while their parents travel, all of them being together during vacations for the winter skiing and the summer sightseeing.

Dr. Hagerty Visits

Dr. James L. Hagerty, professor of philosophy at St. Mary's College, is spending the month of August in Carmel. For the first time Dr. Hagerty missed a Bach Festival this year as he was busy working at St. Mary's on a two-year Rosenberg grant to explore the possibilities of Great Ideas as a course of study in the liberal arts curriculum.

Arleigh Jones Makes Team

Private First Class Arleigh Jones, who is stationed in Germany near the Swiss border, has made the football team for his division, playing tackle. Arleigh is one of 33 members of the division to be chosen to play on the team which this fall will go to England, France and Germany on a scheduled tour of Europe. He formerly wore a football suit at Carmel High School and reports that the average weight of the army team is 225 pounds. Arleigh weighs 203. Not only is the team composed of former college players but it includes some former professional players on its roster.

Christopher Hopkins Born

The Sam Hopkins family on Partington Ridge, Big Sur, has a new member. Christopher Hopkins joined the family on August 15 at the Peninsula Community Hospital weighing a husky eight pounds, two ounces. He and his mother are now at home with his father and the three girls, Jory, Darien and Heidi. Christopher's grandparents are Mrs. Elise Hopkins of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jory of Berkeley. Mrs. Jory is at present visiting the Hopkins at Big Sur.

California's Handsomest Sugar Pine Forest To Be Preserved For Scenic Value

Editor's Note: Carmel Pine Cone readers, and their editor, are so frequently hurt, infuriated and depressed to read in C. Edward Graves' column of new destruction of natural beauty, fresh threats of encroachments on National Parks and Monuments, that it is with great pleasure we pass on the following story. It demonstrates that conservation is making gains, and all of us can be proud to have a small part in its progress.

Clare Hendee, acting under his authority as regional forester of the U. S. Forest Service in California, announced this week that he has established, with the concurrence of the Chief of the Forest Service, a special area dedicated to scenic recreation in Tuolumne County to be known as the Calaveras Memorial Scenic Area. This is the first such dedication of National Forest lands in California to be administered for the exclusive purpose of preserving scenic recreational values.

This memorial scenic area consists of 378.7 acres of the finest stand of veteran sugar pines remaining in the state. Intermingled are the associated pines, firs and cedars and a few giant sequoias that make up the typical virgin forest in this part of the Sierra. This area adjacent to the Calaveras South Grove Big Tree State Park will greatly enhance the recreational values and attractions of the whole area.

Many giant sugar pines over eight feet in diameter may be seen on this tract. One 40-acre portion supports the heaviest volume of sugar pine known to the Forest Service.

Under Forest Service administration this area will be maintained in an undisturbed condition, no commodity sales will be made and the only development permitted will be a minimum of foot trails to enable the public to reach and enjoy all parts of the area. Only in case of a disastrous fire or uncontrollable epidemic insect attack, will the removal or salvage of the killed trees be authorized.

The Calaveras Memorial Scenic Area was recently acquired by exchange from the Pickering Lumber Company under Acts of 1909 and 1912 which authorized acquisition of lands in the South Calaveras area; these lands to be permanently held and administered by the Forest Service as the Calaveras Big Tree National Forest. The National Forest thus created, places in public ownership the last of the privately-owned tracts of scenic timberland in the South Calaveras area. Acquisition of these lands was urged and strongly supported by the Congressional delegation from California as well as many other interested groups and individuals.

"The scenic classification that I have given these acquired recreation lands", said Mr. Hendee, "is in the nature of double assurance that these lands will be administered for posterity in strict conformance with the intent and purposes of the authority under which they were acquired."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The way of health and holiness, of dominion over fear and sin which Christ Jesus came to teach, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include the Master's healing of the servant of the high priest as recorded in Luke's Gospel (22: 50, 51): "And one of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear. And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (54:10-17): "That he might liberally pour his dear-bought treasures into empty or sin-filled human storehouses, was the inspiration of Jesus' intense human sacrifice. In witness of his divine commission, he presented the proof that Life Truth, and Love heal the sick and the sinning, and triumph over death through Mind, not matter. This was the highest proof he could have offered of divine Love."

tone. Lilian Lee played with firm technique and intelligence, a Bach Prelude, and Norse Song and Mignon by Schumann. Schubert's Die Post, an opera aria by Flotow, and Danny Boy by Weatherly, were given by Richard Boolootian, with feeling and good diction. A duet from Verdi's opera Don Carlo, sung by the two men, was a striking finale to what one musician described as "an inspiring program". Miss Lindsay-Oliver had explained how little time the men had to study—also that her song, sung by Anderson, was on words by Raine Bennett, so well known in earlier Carmel Forest Theater productions; and she pleased by adding one of her own compositions besides accompanying. The whole "showed a high standard and reflected great credit" as another musician observed.

Among the representative audience was Mrs. John Monning from Los Angeles, who, as Betty Wheeler, was Lindsay-Oliver's pupil when she lived here formerly and sang Yum Yum in her production of The Mikado in the Wheeler Patio in Pebble Beach. A social period followed with Mrs. Jeanie Klenke and Mrs. Santee serving refreshments.

financial strain the numerous Youth Centers are imposing on the Community Chest. The Chest can no longer carry the full burden. As we have finances to last only thirty to sixty days, I would like to meet with the City Council at a special meeting. Also the members of the Recreation Commission, and the Adult Board of the Carmel Youth Center. I have spoken to Carl Patnude on the subject, and as a member representing both the City Council and the Recreation Commission, he also feels such a meeting is necessary.

"If you will advise me of a suitable date I will notify our adult members, as well as the Carmel Recreation Commission."

D'Oyly Carte Co's Gilbert - Sullivan Is Always Great

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

The amazingly long and popular history of Gilbert and Sullivan Opera is pretty well known, though not the many obstacles these clever people encountered in America after the production of Pinafore in 1879 in London, or that, with the exception of three months early in World War II, these operas have run continuously at the Savoy Theatre for nearly three quarters of a century to filled houses, even through bombings and blitz.

Shortly after the success of Pinafore, America was pirating unauthentic scores with companies and publishers making hoards, and owing to copyright laws of those days (or rather lack of them), they paid nothing to the creators. In self-defense, and to establish a copyright in this country, Gilbert and Sullivan quietly brought over an English Company and opened several days before the American one in New York. Following that they produced a new opera, The Pirates of Penzance, which England was to welcome later. Possibly after all the pirating they had suffered, this seemed to them an appropriate and timely theme! Then the orchestra players struck for more pay because they considered it grand opera, not operetta. Finally Sullivan won by announcing that he had a well trained orchestra in London who would be happy to get on a ship and come. The original orchestral scores have never been published but remain exclusively in the hands of The D'Oyly Carte Company, and can therefore only be heard in their performances, giving the full beauty and pithiness of the music. This the writer was privileged to hear again last Wednesday as a guest of the company

DEMOCRATIC TEA ON SAT.

Dorothy Donahoe, assemblywoman from Kern County, will be the guest of honor at the tea to be given by the Carmel Women's Democratic Club on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lee Kellogg on Scenic Drive at Eleventh Street, Carmel. Democrats will remember Mrs. Donahoe as the speaker at the luncheon given two years ago at Noel Sullivan's Hollow Hills Farm. She is at present vacationing in Carmel. Mrs. Eugene Watson is general chairman for the tea and men as well as women are invited to attend.

at The Geary Theatre in San Francisco, in a performance of The Pirates of Penzance that clearly accentuated the superior and finished singing-tones and acting of Savoy artists.

Peter Pratt as the Major-General, Muriel Harding as Mabel his daughter, Neville Griffiths as Frederick, Ann Drummond-Grant as Ruth and Donald Adams as the Pirate King were all outstanding, while the ensemble and chorus was just as interesting every moment. The consummate control and artistry of Isidore Godfrey, the conductor, was received with great enthusiasm from the packed house. There is certainly nothing in the present day musical plays to compare with Sullivan's music or the "ingenious paradoxes" of the biting, though harmless, satire of Gilbert. Merely to read the librettos is complete entertainment.

in part by tax funds. But seven Chest agencies get part of their funds from supplemental public drives of one sort or another. Moreover, some agencies, whose services are localized and which are supported by Community Chests in other areas, put on their own drives on the Monterey Peninsula. We do not refer, of course, to the national TB, paralysis and heart agencies, which carry on national programs supported by funds raised nationally.

Certainly it is not in anyone's interest to have this wise "one drive" program break down. So it is up to all of us to give 20% more. Spread over a year, we really never will miss the money, and we may be sure that if the 17 different agencies ever set out again to raise funds individually, we shall in the end give a lot more than the extra 20%; yet get less in community results for the money we give.

Dr. Dormody Chairman

Dr. Horace Dormody of Carmel has been appointed chairman of the Salvation Army fund raising campaign for Monterey County. The drive for funds will start on Monday at noon with a luncheon at the Casa Munras. Appeals are also being made for volunteers for direct solicitation during the drive.

Time For Grown-Ups To Start Sharpening Their Pencils, Too

Night School Principal Charles Dawson says. It will cover six tests to be given by Dr. Philip A. Goode, a retired professional psychologist. The tests will probe for vocational interest, aptitudes, educational and personality development, etc.

A similar course will be given again this year at Monterey College night school by a new instructor, Dr. Gwynne Nettler, a practicing psychologist. Among the language courses German and Spanish will be offered, taught by instructors from the Army Language School at the Presidio. Many of the courses at Monterey Evening School, which is conducted at Monterey College, are of college stature and offer college credit. Monterey Adult School has a new principal this year, Linden Leavitt, who has been teaching in the Los Angeles school system.

Rudd A. Crawford, principal of Pacific Grove Evening School is working on his schedule at the moment and will be ready to announce it next week.

Monterey College classes start September 7, with registration on September 6. The basic liberal arts subjects of the first two years of college are taught, as well as a number of terminal and vocational courses, including a new one this year, Police Training.

Girl For The Spergels

Brenda Harriett is the third child and first daughter for Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Gordon Dean Spergel of the Royal Canadian Navy. The young lady arrived at Fort Ord Hospital on August 12 and has two older brothers, Alan, 4, and Brian, 2. Lt. Comdr. Spergel is studying in the engineering department of the United States Naval Postgraduate School and both he and his wife are former residents of Toronto, Canada. The Spergels came here a year ago and will remain in Carmel for another year before returning to Canada. Mrs. Spergel's mother, Mrs. Sophia Bolter of Toronto, came to California to welcome her new grandchild. She has now returned home, planning another visit here during the winter.

CAMPBELL, DEMO. CHAIRMAN

James B. Campbell of Carmel was elected chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee at a meeting held on Tuesday evening. He replaces John Lewis of Salinas, who was forced to resign because of extra teaching duties which made it impossible for him to devote the necessary time to the chairmanship position. He is remaining as a member of the committee. Campbell was formerly vice-chairman of the group.

side, said they thought Dr. Weston's suggestions showed a way to a solution and asked him to approach the S.P.C.A. officers in the hope that an agreement can be reached by September 1.

The split occurred between the S.P.C.A. and the cities over the Society's demand this spring of a fifty percent raise in the contract fee it charges the cities for pound patrol. The S.P.C.A., which had just completed a new animal shelter, claimed that it would have to use its humane work funds for pound service unless it received more support from the cities. The cities argued that the Society had raised salaries of employees and also that it was charging too much of its capital outlay against the cities. The cities offered approximately 25 percent increase and the S.P.C.A. broke off negotiations. They would have 50 percent or nothing. At this juncture Dr. Weston called his luncheon to present his suggestions to the four-cities' representatives.

Mrs. Smith told the Pine Cone that Carmel pays the pound $1,500 out of general funds and collects only $440 in dog license fees which the city keeps. Rose says he is certain that only a small percentage of Carmel dog owners are coming into city hall to pay for their pets' license. A door to door collection system should raise considerably more money, Mrs. Smith believes. Also an administrative board for the pound, and a division between pound and humane work, would clear up misunderstanding and dissatisfaction between the cities and the S.P.C.A.
